“The mutual support and career development provided by Libraries Connected membership is invaluable.” Head of Service

As the voice public libraries, our members are at the heart of everything we do. They give us credibility, insight and authority as we represent the library sector to government, the media and other important partners.

By putting members first, we ensure their priorities shape our work - so we can meet their needs, respond quickly to emerging challenges and take decisive action when it matters most.

Whether you're a head of service, senior manager or frontline worker, Libraries Connected membership brings unique benefits.

Anyone who works for a member library service can:

- ◆ Attend training, webinars and in-person events such as our Innovation Gathering
- ◆ Participate in our online networks and member platform
- ◆ Access commercial opportunities and funding
- ◆ Participate in projects, research, publications and media opportunities
- ◆ Be nominated for the Libraries Connected Awards

Heads of service in member library services can also:

- ◆ Receive our weekly bulletin with sector news and funding opportunities
- ◆ Join national and regional member networks
- ◆ Join project and Universal Library Offer working groups, the board of trustees and run for President
